

Developer (m/f/d) MS Dynamics 365 BC recycling economy

#DIFFERENTIATOR

Our smart cloud solution is going to sustainably change one of the most important future markets: the waste and recycling industry. There are now many big-name companies who rely on the tegossuite products and apps. And we now have more than 130 employees at tegos working on our innovative software. Change the future with us and start a new challenge at the tegosgroup. We offer an innovative and exciting work environment where you can get creative and take on responsibilities as part of the team, whether you have just begun your career or have been working for many years.

What you can expect

To expand our team, we're looking for a Software Developer (all genders) for exciting work within product development and customer projects. Depending on your relevant experience and possibly after an appropriate training period, you will take on all software development tasks. You will work in a team of experienced software developers and consultants, developing solutions together.

Your job will include the following:

- You solve the challenges of our customers from the recycling economy with creative developments of new functionalities and modules within your Scrum squad.
- You contribute ideas and innovations to move forward the development of our ERP system based on Microsoft Dynamics Business Central.
- Development and implementation of concrete technical solutions, including corresponding tests, code reviews and documentation

Your skill set

- Your educational qualification is secondarily. What counts for us is your experience and motivation as a software developer.
- 2+ years of practical experience in development from Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central or NAV
- Interest in other new technologies and how to integrate them
- Great team spirit, along with an efficient and solution-oriented work ethic
- Excellent communication skills in English

What we offer

- Future-oriented projects and innovative tasks in an international creative company
- 100% remote working possible
- Highly flexible working hours
- Agile working methods and small teams who enjoy working together
- Relaxed and informal working environment, with regular team events
- Modern office in the heart of Berlin
- Individual personal development possible
- Health and sport programmes
- Attractive company pension policy and other interesting compensation elements
